教學綱要
教學目標 與內容	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The purpose of this course is to help students accelerate their English proficiency in four skills (i.e., listening, speaking, reading and writing). 2. To help facilitate students' preparation for their professions, this course includes activities and simulation related to the tasks required by their professions (e.g., communicating with patients, listening to medical podcasts, reporting cases and writing case reports). 3. Another focus of this course lies in news reading. It is hoped that students' reading interests will be broadened at the end of this course. 4. The lecturer of this course will organize the course in a way that students can learn important issues in their fields, foster their abilities in completing the tasks required by their professions such as dealing with sensitive issues and reading news articles. In addition to article reading, included in this course are academic/medical writing (such as summary)
